Enroll in children's health insurance coverage and help protect your kid's health and well-being.

By enrolling in your State's children's health insurance program, you may be able to seek additional services that your American Indian and Alaska Native health care clinic does not cover.

Your children's health insurance program not only protects your child; it also provides benefits to your tribal community and tribal clinic by maximizing health care resources.

Gain peace of mind knowing your kids are covered. Even if you've been turned down in the past, contact your local health care provider for more information.
