TEXT MESSAGES REMINDING FAMILIES TO ACCESS MENTAL AND BEHAVIORAL HEALTH CARE

Share Connecting Kids to Coverage National Campaign messages through community text message programs, WhatsApp, or WeChat to help spread the word about free or low-cost health insurance available under Medicaid and the Children’s Health Insurance Program (CHIP) and to remind enrolled families of important mental and behavioral health care services available to them.

Text message programs are an effective way to reach eligible families. According to the Pew Research Center, 97% of adults in America who make $30,000 or less a year own a cell phone. Multiple studies have also concluded that participation in text message programs increases medical compliance.

These sample messages are customizable to direct recipients to a state insurance webpage, your organization’s website, or other resources specific to your community.
