Income Disparities

Preliminary data show the number of dental services for children declined drastically in April 2020, increased through September 2020 with a peak in March 2021, but remain below pre-PHE levels

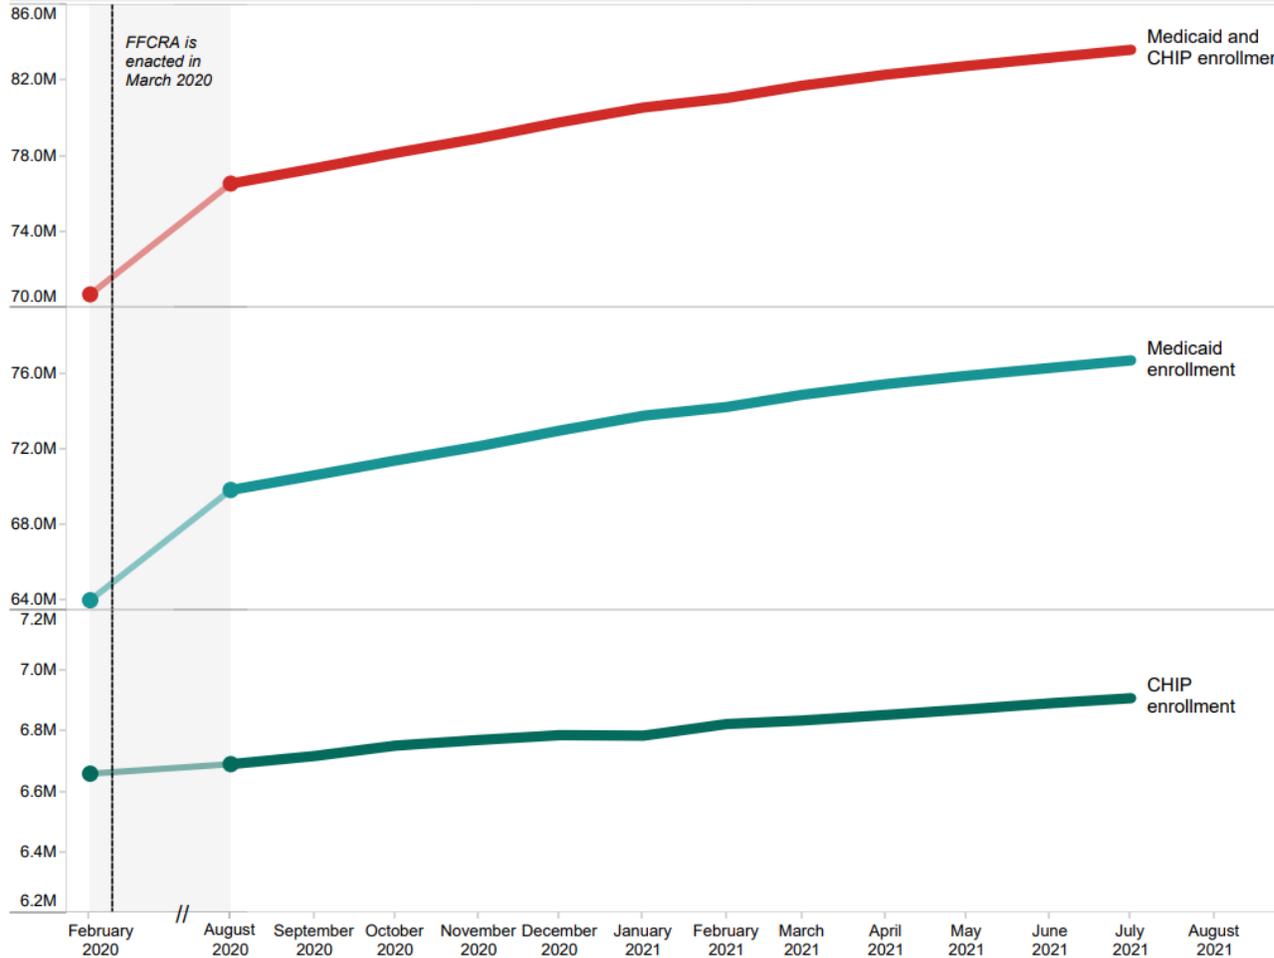

Comparing the PHE period (March 2020 – May 2021) to the same period two years prior, the data show ~24% fewer (12.6 million) dental services for children under age 19

Note: Data for recent months are likely to be adjusted upward due to claims lag.

Notes: These data are preliminary. Data are sourced from the T-MSIS Analytic Files v5 in DataConnect using final action claims. They are based on July T-MSIS submissions with services through the end of June. Recent dates of service have very little time for claims runout and we expect large changes in the results after each monthly update. Because data for June are incomplete, results are only presented through May 31, 2021. The PHE period includes data for March 2020 through May 2021. The pre-PHE average is the average of all values for that month in the years that predate the PHE, including data from January 2018 through February 2020.

Source: Medicaid and CHIP Eligibility and Enrollment Performance Indicator Data as of November 16, 2021.

Note: This analysis includes preliminary enrollment data from 50 states and the District of Columbia. "FFCRA" refers to the Families First Coronavirus Response Act. Section 6008 of FFCRA includes a continuous enrollment requirement, which makes available a temporary 6.2 percentage point increase to each state or territory's federal medical assistance percentage (FMAP) during the national public health emergency. As a condition of receiving the FMAP increase, states must meet several requirements pertaining to eligibility and maintenance of enrollment.

*The cumulative change compares the most recent enrollment data to February 2020, which serves as a baseline of enrollment prior to the impacts of the COVID-19 pandemic and FFCRA's continuous enrollment requirement. For additional information on Medicaid and CHIP enrollment from December 2019 to July 2021, please see Appendix A.
